

Dr Tassos Anastasatos
Senior Economist

Eurobank EFG

Division of Economic Research and Forecasting

Amalias Av. & Souri, 105 57 Athens

Tel. +30 210 3337507

Fax: +30 210 3337687

E-mail: TAnastasatos@eurobank.gr

Education

- Ph.D. (2002), Warwick Business School, University of Warwick, UK
- M.Sc. in Economics and Finance (1998), Warwick Business School and Economics Department, University of Warwick, UK
- B.Sc. (1995) in International and European Economic Studies, Athens University of Economics and Business

Previous posts held:

- Economist, Bank of Greece, Economic Research Department, Division of Special Studies
- Lecturer, Loughborough University, Economics Department, UK
- Visiting Lecturer, Athens University of Economics & Business, Dept of International and European Economic Studies & Dept of Accounting and Finance, Greece
- Research Associate, Business School, Loughborough University, UK
- Consultant, Gerson Lehrman Group, Policy & Economics Council

Dr. Anastasatos has published in the areas of exchange rate management and speculative attacks, exchange rate regimes, monetary integration, the impact of common currency on trade, monetary policy analysis, current account determination and competitiveness, the Greek economy and South-Eastern European economies. He is involved in most Eurobank's research activities. Inter alia, he is author and leading researcher in the Economy & Markets Bulletin, Publication Advisor for the New Europe Economics & strategy monthly, contributor in other publications, he acts as a consultant to the Bank's management on macroeconomic issues, represents Eurobank in committees and conferences, holds presentations for institutional and private clients, and publishes in the press.